This website is managed and owned by Salvius Legal B.V.

Our website uses various kinds of cookies, and this statement explains what cookies are, which cookies we use on our website, what they do and how you can allow or refuse cookies.

What are cookies?

A cookie is a small text file that is stored on your computer or mobile device when you visit a website. Cookies help a website, for example, to remember the pages you have visited and your preferences (such as language and font size) so that you do not have to re-enter them every time you visit the website.

There are different types of cookies: functional cookies, analytical cookies, marketing cookies, third-party tracking cookies.

- Functional cookies are for example, language preference, font, type of device etc. These cookies enable the website to provide enhanced functionality and personalization. If you do not allow these cookies, then some or all these services may not function properly.
- Analytics cookies or performance cookies are used to track website visitors and their user behavior. This data is then used to improve the way the website works and in turn, used to improve user experience.
- Tracking/ marketing / third-party cookies are used on some website to follow a visitor and possibly afterwards. Consent is always required. This is privacy sensitive information because data can also be processed when placing these cookies. An advertiser who was given permission to advertise on a website can track a visitor if one has given permission for the ads on multiple websites.
